

TEETIME VENTURES LAUNCHES GOLFER'S EDGE - INDOOR GOLF LEAGUE

By Bharath Arvind

MULTI-CITY NATIONAL LEAGUE TO CONNECT INDOOR GOLF CENTRES ACROSS INDIA, WITH OVER 22 TEAMS ACROSS 6 CITIES COMPETING IN THE INAUGURAL SEASON.

➔ TeeTime Ventures has announced the launch of the Golfer's Edge - Indoor Golf League (IGL) 2026, one of India's largest multi-city indoor golf leagues, bringing together golfers and simulator venues from across the country in a first-of-its-kind national indoor golf league.

The inaugural league will run from 13 July to 9 August 2026 and features 7 venues across 6 cities including cities including Bengaluru, Chennai, Goa, Mangaluru, Kochi and Visakhapatnam.

Unlike traditional leagues restricted to a single venue or operator, the Indoor Golf League has been designed as an open national competition. While, most of the participating venues will be using the ProTee Vx simulator, (TeeTime Ventures is the sole distributor in India), any indoor golf facility in India operating GSPRO or The Golf Club (TGC) 2019 simulator software is eligible to participate, creating a unified competitive platform for the rapidly growing indoor golf community.

Venues will compete on world-renowned championship golf courses with scoring standardised across all participating venues. The format allows golfers from different cities to compete against one another under identical playing conditions, irrespective of weather, daylight or course availability. It also allows golfers the flexibility to play any time of day or week to log in their rounds for the week, making it much more time efficient and convenient for golfers with busy schedules.

multiple cities, but until now there hasn't been a common competitive platform connecting them. The Indoor Golf League changes that. Our vision is to build a national ecosystem where golfers can compete regardless of which city they play in, while giving indoor golf centres across India an opportunity to be part of a professionally managed league. We believe this is an important milestone in the evolution of golf in India."

Bharath Arvind, Co-Founder of Golfer's Edge, added:

"What makes this league unique is that it is designed to be collaborative rather than exclusive. We wanted to create a platform that benefits the entire indoor golf industry. Any venue running GSPro or TGC 2019 can participate, allowing golfers from across India to compete together in a consistent, technology-driven environment. As more venues come online, we expect the league to grow into the country's premier indoor golf championship."

where professional-grade launch monitors and simulator software now deliver tournament-quality accuracy for both practice and competition. Players will experience realistic ball flight, course conditions and scoring while enjoying a structured league format that combines competition with community.

The launch also reinforces Golfer's Edge's broader mission of making golf more accessible by reducing many of the traditional barriers associated with the sport, including weather, travel, course availability and the time required to play an outdoor round. GP
